

Photos Associated with “Fletcher’s Airport and Drag Strip – Forgotten History Remembered”

A photo (believed to be 1937) showing 8 aircraft around & inside the A&H Flying Service hangar at Asheville-Hendersonville Airport (Photo from: Mark L. Reed collection at UNC Library System.)

Photo of a group of men at Asheville – Hendersonville Airport in April 1939. (From: Mark L. Reed collection at UNC Library System.)

A photo (believed to be 1937) of a Stinson Reliant in front of the A&H Flying Service hangar at Asheville-Hendersonville Airport. (Photo courtesy of Frank Blazich Jr. in "Abandoned and Little Known Airfields" by Paul Freeman).

A 1954 photo of Asheville-Hendersonville Airport, showing "a Piper Apache & a Delta DC-3. (Photo by James Brown in "Abandoned and Little Known Airfields" by Paul Freeman).

A photo (circa 1950s?) 3 DC-3s in front of the Asheville Hendersonville Airport terminal, (Courtesy of Mike Whitt in "Abandoned and Little Known Airfields" by Paul Freeman).

One of the last photos showing the Asheville-Henderson Airport still in operation in 1954. This photo shows a Piper in front of the FBO hangar. (Photo by James Brown in "Abandoned and Little Known Airfields" by Paul Freeman).

SEASONS GRAND OPENING
SUNDAY APRIL 3rd

A & H DRAGSTRIP

OLD ASHEVILLE-HENDERSONVILLE AIRPORT
HIGHWAY 25 AT FLETCHER

GATES OPEN 11 A.M. — TIME TRIALS ALL DAY

A & H DRAG STRIP WILL BE OPEN
EVERY SATURDAY AND SUNDAY
ALL SUMMER

CHILDREN UNDER 12 FREE

SATURDAY NIGHT DRAG RACING APRIL 16th

Ad advertising the A & H Drag Strip as it appeared in the Spartanburg Herald Journal April 3, 1966.

A circa 2007 aerial view of the old airport looking north. The remnants of two of the runways can be seen as Cane Creek Industrial Park Rd and L A White Dr. The grass runway of existing Cane Creek Airport can be seen in the upper left of the photo. Remnants of the old taxiways can be seen going into the Borg Warner plant in the right of the photo. (Photo from USGS web site nationalmap.gov.)